BJ has been labeled a tough nose defender at the point guard position. He takes the defensive assignment of guarding the primary point guard very seriously. When it comes to scoring, he is strong at the dribble pull up shot and shoots the three ball consistently well. Unlike other skilled scorers, BJ is not selfish. He has no problem deferring to his teammates and consistently making the right pass at the right time. As for as NBA comparisons, BJ's defensive style of play has been compared to that of Patrick Beverly's, characterized by his intense on-ball pressure. On the offensive end it is said that his game is in the style of CJ McCollum due to his consistent midrange shot off the catch and dribble. BJ would be a great addition to any team.
